McCreary Elected.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 14.—James B. McCreary was today elected United States Senator from Kentucky to succeed W. J. Deboe, whom he will succeed in less than two months. The two houses of the General Assembly in separate session stopped all other business on the stroke of 12 to-day and took a ballot for Senator.

In the Senate the vote stood 23 for McCreary, 11 for Deboe and 1 for ex-Gov. Bradley. The vote for Bradley was cast by Senator W. H. Cox, of Mason county. In the House the vote stood 74 for McCreary and 24 for Deboe.

Having received a majority of all the votes cast in each house, Mr. McCreary is the duly elected Senator, as the Constitution provides that where a candidate receives a majority of the votes in each separately, it is not necessary to take a joint ballot. But as a precaution the formality of another vote in separate houses will be observed again next Tuesday, on account of the fact that the Constitution is not clear as to which Tuesday is the one intended for the election. Mr. McCreary is in the city but he did not appear at the Statehouse to-day. After next Tuesday Gov. Beckham will issue his certificate of election.

The $100,000 Committee.

When the Legislature appropriated a hundred thousand dollars to be used in the apprehension and bringing to justice the murderers of Wm. Goebel many papers cried shame, and assumed that the money would at once be squandered. After seeing the names of the committee, and especially that of Col. W. M. Moore, with whom we are well acquainted, we had no fears of such a result. Let us learn that the other members of the committee were made out of the same kind of material as Col. Moore and we were sure there would be no waste of money.

Recently the committee met and certain detectives came forward and demanded the reward for the conviction of Youtsey. "Oh, no," said the committee, "we paid your expenses and $25 a day for your work, and you cannot claim the reward and collect wages for the time you were earning the reward. If you really discovered the guilty parties, it was while you were working for the State, and the State bought your time and paid for it, and the results of your labor belong to the State." Of course the boys felt sore, but the people will be glad to know that the committee is acting on the square. Neither of the committees is paid for his services.—Farmers Friend.

The report that Henry Youtsey, serving a life sentence at Frankfort, for complicity in the murder of Senator Goebel, would go on the stand in the trial of Jim Howard, at Hardinsburg, and one Dr. Johnson were in the office of the Secretary of State, and those two only, when Senator Goebel was shot, has all the marks of untruth. For Youtsey to say that the only men present, were two men who have since died would be to bring his word into prompt discredit, and his testimony would be worth nothing. Besides the people of Breckinridge county stand ready to prove that when Mr. Goebel was shot, Burton, the Sheriff, was lying fatally ill at his home in Hardinsburg and was not in Frankfort, and that it can be so proven. That Youtsey story is exceedingly thin.—Warren Courier.

Jim Mayes, a negro who had attempted to murder the white foreman, was taken from jail at Springfield by a mob and hanged early Saturday. So orderly and thoroughly organized were the mob that the occupants of the nearest house knew nothing of what was going on. The crime which the mob avenged was an attempted assault upon the pretty daughter of Joseph Jeans, one of the most prominent men in the county.

A dispatch from Clinton, Ill., says Warren C. Bromer and Clay Connor, of Boyle and Casey counties, Ky., respectively, were equipped in the Circuit Court there of a charge of murder after a trial lasting four days. The defendants, who are under 30 years of age, were charged with shooting and killing William Edward Taylor, at Dewitt, that county, July 20, 1901.

May Ryan Cobb, a well-known daughter of the Revolution, born at Frankfort, Ky., celebrated her 99th birthday Sunday at Richmond, Ind.

Worth Considering.

That portion of Governor Beckham's message which he refers to the good feeling that now exists between people of different political parties is worthy of especial thought. That full understanding may be had of his effort to bring together the citizens of Kentucky for commercial advancement and to do away with the bitterness that the heated and unfortunate political contests of the past few years have been productive. We produce that portion of the message.

"The dark cloud of internal dissensions that hung over us two years ago in the unhappy differences then existing has disappeared and given way to the sunshine of a better and more rational feeling. The unfortunate bitterness of that period caused by extraneous political conditions is fast disappearing, and our people fully realize the superior advantages of diverting their time and attention to the industrial progress of the State rather than to the activities of heated political controversies and contentions. Notwithstanding the many misrepresentations and slanders uttered by outsiders concerning the conditions in the State and the frequent publications of false and injurious articles in sensational journals whose regard for truth is subordinate to their desire for romance, it is nevertheless a fact that the supremacy of law in Kentucky today is such as to give every citizen a perfect guarantee of protection of life, liberty or property as can be found in any State of the Union. We have suffered much by these false and exaggerated reports, but it is now happily within our power to give absolute assurance to all that a condition of peace and respect for the law exists from one end of the State to the other. In the mountains of Kentucky, whose people have been the objects of much unmerited abuse and have been charged with lawlessness and crime, you will find a most favorable condition of affairs. The public officials there are doing their utmost to enforce the law and the people beginning to realize the real rights looked in their mountains are offering every opportunity and inducement for the investment of capital and the opening up of this unexplored field of natural wealth. There is no reason why it should not be done, and we may confidently look forward to a wonderful advancement in that part of the State in the next few years. I am sure that it is your desire to encourage this spirit everywhere, as far as it is possible to do so by legislation, and while in framing laws to carefully guard the interests of the people as a whole, at the same time to show a spirit of liberality and fairness that will aid in the development of the resources of the State. With the limitation placed by the Constitution upon the length of your session it is fortunate that the circumstances are such as to enable you to give your entire time to the consideration of matters that affect the substantial and business interests of the Commonwealth."

The spirit portrayed in the well chosen language is well calculated to inspire in the legislature a thorough understanding that the time has come for them to leave off heated and unwise political discussion and proceed in the work of advancing the interests of the State upon a higher plane of action.

It is to the credit of the Governor and to the advantage of all Kentuckians that such a feeling is thus expressed by the executive. It is a note of warning to the white foreman, a note of warning to the negro, a note of warning to the business men who bear much of the burden of taxation. Politics is a good thing about election time, and it is a man's duty as it is his privilege to talk it and become informed and inform his associates, but there are times for all things and the short session of the legislature should as its duty be devoted to furthering the interests of the State and placing her ahead of others in the race for the good of commercial prestige.—Danville News.

In Europe it seems that they are quarreling about whether it was England or Russia that saved the United States from European intervention during the Spanish war. The Louisville Times says that whatever decision is reached will not affect the American conviction that Uncle Sam's sign, "Keep off the Grass" had a little more to do than anything else toward accomplishing that end.

Important Evidence.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 13.—Both sides pressed W. H. Culton, who was put on the witness stand by the Commonwealth this afternoon in the trial of Jim Howard, and the witness told more of the conspiracy to murder Goebel than any of the previous trials. It is the State's case, Campbell, for the State only asked Culton about his conversations with Howard, but the counsel for the defense wanted to know more. They adopted a plan different from that pursued by the counsel for the other men who have been tried for the assassination. Their object today was to impress the jury with Culton's guilt.

Those who heard the witness say he involved himself deeply in the crime more so than at any previous trial, but at the same time, he entangled more deeply nearly every man named in the indictment. Persons who have heard the testimony in the other trials say the details of the conspiracy were brought out more clearly by Culton this afternoon than ever before. The object of the attorneys for the defense was apparent to the lawyers for the Commonwealth and Mr. Campbell, in his direct examination of Culton, forced him to tell all that he had to say. Culton admitted that he took men to the House of Representatives to kill the Democrats.

It was plain that he was trying to avoid answering questions, not wanting to implicate himself, but the answers were drawn from him. He said he had given them orders from Taylor, and that in a consultation with Taylor it was decided that Senator Geo. W. Hickman, chairman of the Coolest Committee, Speaker Shuck Triple and Representative Campbell Caultwell were to be killed.

He said other men were appointed "to attend to the Senate." He said the killing would have been done on January 20, but Charles Finley came up and said: "Boys, don't do that to-day. Basil Duke says there is another way to settle this contest." He narrated his conversation with Jim Howard on the afternoon of the day that Goebel was shot. Howard said: "They say Jack Ching is a brave man, but you ought to have seen that 4-d man run when the shot rang out."

Culton denied that he told Grant Roberts to try to induce Youtsey to leave Frankfort, as he did not want him to implicate a friend of his from Jackson county in the murder of Goebel. He did say, however, that he told Roberts that W. S. Taylor wanted both Roberts and Youtsey to go; that if they remained in Frankfort until the grand jury met "we would get into trouble."

"Taylor said he would pay Youtsey's expenses, and I told Roberts that Taylor wanted him to go either to Ohio or Washington," said Culton.

In support of his statement Culton said Roberts left Frankfort.

Sure Failure.
Frederick Harrison, the noted English writer asserts that England is being slowly bled to death, while the government systematically suppresses truth and diffuses deceptive reports concerning the war against the Boers. He says:

Four successive attempts have been made in four successive centuries to accomplish what we are trying to accomplish in South Africa. All have failed. Philip II, of Spain, in the sixteenth century, possessing unequalled naval and military forces and backed by the undivided patriotism of the Spanish people, tried to subjugate Holland for eighty years, only to bring disaster on his own country and to stimulate Holland to great feats of national progress.

In the seventeenth century, Louis XIV, of France, took up the task that Philip II had left. He wrecked the French monarchy and almost wrecked France, but Holland continued to flourish. George III, of England, in the eighteenth century tried the policy of intelligence and accommodation upon our American colonists, driving them out of the Empire and bringing vast loss and humiliation upon ourselves.

Napoleon III, of France, in the nineteenth century sacrificed 100,000 French men in an attempt to fasten French supremacy on distracted Mexico, but that country, despite its disunion, rallied to the standard of nationalism and set at naught the mightiest strength of the invader. Thus history teaches us unmistakably that no white people, however great and powerful, cannot politically annihilate another. On the contrary, small, hardy nationalities thrive under tyranny and attack, while their assailants either visit the struggle or sink into exhaustion and confusion.

Robbers entered the residence of Daniel Harper, near Owingsville Saturday night and got away with $150 and some silverware. Mr. Harper had the money in his trousers under his pillow, and the money was secured by cutting open the pocket.

A dispatch from Savannah, Ga., last Sunday, says: "Rear Admiral Schley passed a quiet day at the home of Gen. W. W. Gordon, whom he is visiting. He attended religious services this morning at Christ church, Episcopal, and this evening at the Independent Presbyterian church. There was no demonstration in either building, though both streets were lined with people before and after the services. Men raised their hats to the distinguished visitor and women bowed to him, but there was no cheering or hand clapping. It had been on the programme for the Rear Admiral and Mrs. Schley to take a carriage drive this afternoon, but the coldness kept them indoors.

The announcement of the death of J. A. (Jep) Huffaker, at his home in Louisville, last Friday, shocked thousands of his friends all over this part of the State. We know of his physical frailties and that he must leave the scene of his struggle and triumphs shortly, but no one who knew him felt willing to give him up to die. A choice and lovely friend and companion is gone before.—Somerset Journal.

Definition of Kiss.

Kissing is a noun, it is a name; proper noun because it is the proper thing to do when they are ready and the heart is willing; plural number because it takes two to perform it; common gender, because it is performed by one of each sex; possessive case, because it possesses a delicate inflection for the human race and agrees with the parties performing the act. Kissing is closely connected with "buss," which is a good old back woods expression, meaning a kiss that is highly enjoyed by two greenhorns who have powerful lungs to perform the act with. In this case bus means one kiss, rebuss means kiss again, pluribus means a number of kisses, horribus means to be caught kissing by the old folks, merribus means to steal a kiss, syllibus means to kiss the hands instead of the lips, blunderbus means to kiss an old maid by mistake, and omnibus means kiss all present, including your mother-in-law.—Anonymous.

A Harrodsburg citizen, who is a partisan Republican, went to Indianapolis some months ago seeking employment. He worked at various jobs until four weeks ago when he thought it would be a good thing to get a place on the street railway. He got three or four former citizens of this place, who are now in his town there, interested and they saw the superintendent of the line and he promised to give the man a place in a couple of weeks, but the applicant thought this too long to wait and determined he would clock the situation and go to work right off. So he went to the office of fugitives Taylor and Finley, who knew him as a good Republican, and they each gave him a strong letter to the superintendent, in which they asked that he be put to work right away. The applicant took the letter to the railway official who read it two or three times then passed it back to the fellow in the remarks: "If that is the kind of birds you are looking with over here you can't get any job on our line." And he didn't.—Harrodsburg Democrat.

WEDNESDAY, JAN 22

Gov. D. R. McKinney has announced his candidacy for Circuit Judge in the Pre-Union district.

The Kentucky Legislature is moving along cautiously, and if no gross mistakes are made during the session there is no telling what the next Democratic majority in the State will be.

J. M. McKnight is now under sentence to serve six years in the "Pen," for crooked work in the German National Bank which failed five or six years ago. It is a light sentence for a great offense.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" is getting hard kicks from the Lexington people. It deserves all it is getting for it is an exaggerated narrative of a condition that passed away nearly forty years ago.

Mr. L. H. Cabell, of Camp Knox, returned from Frankfort last week. He reports that everything is moving along harmoniously at the Capital, and that every thing points to an interesting session. Mr. Cabell entered the race for Commissioner of the Penitentiary at a late day, and while he was defeated, he made a very favorable impression.

Admiral Sampson is not as strong a man as the Sampson who slew his enemies many, many years ago. The Admiral lost his power when he claimed a victory not his own. Readers of the Bible are familiar with the loss of power in the other case.

The trial of Jim Howard, now on trial for the murder of the late Gov. Goebel, will be concluded this week. The general opinion is, that he will be convicted. In fact the testimony for the State is stronger than at the first trial at which he was given the death penalty.

Schley is receiving the endorsements of Legislatures in several States and we trust this work will continue. The House vote in Frankfort last week commending Schley stood 70 to 0, the Republicans refusing to vote. He is the man who deserves credit and everybody knows it as well as Cervera and no one would doubt Cervera's conviction as to who whipped him.

The Burkesville Herald can not face the music and squirms and twists to extricate itself from the embarrassing position it occupies by reproducing our article of Jan 1st as its editorial. Its claim that it was taken from the Commercial is so thin that a blind man could see that such was not the case for the article would have been as foreign to Louisville as any place under the sun. The Commercial would not admit Louisville to be a small town away from railroads, it would not state that Jefferson county was a back country, it would not claim that that city was free from the thief, the beggar and the tramp. We offered Mr. Scott $500 for the Commercial of that date containing that article. He declines to accept it and in return offers us $500 for a copy of the Herald of any date containing our article "word for word". We admit that we can not do this for a few words and two or three sentences were slightly changed but full three-fourths of the article appeared word for word as it appeared in the News. There was nothing original in the Herald article except the last line which was "Remember us to your friends." Give credit to whom credit is due is the correct way. That article never appeared in the Commercial nor on other paper previous to the News.

Gov. Bradley was in Washington last week, urging the appointment of D. R. McKnight for surveyor of the Port, Louisville. Many think that Mr. Bradley will carry his point and that Barrett will be knocked out.

Judge Gordon, attorney for Howard, in his opening statement for the defense, said: "I am not here to extenuate or to excuse this crime against the Commonwealth. Wm. Goebel was a distinguished man and was cut down at the threshold of a career in public life which promised to be great. I followed him politically, and I have said at all times that no one could have feeling against him to justify such a deed." He admitted that the shot was fired from Secretary of State's office. He also admitted that the death of Mr. Goebel was the result of a conspiracy, but asserted that Howard was not a party to it. Every trial shows conclusively that a murderous conspiracy was formed and that two of its main promoters are now in Indiana. Doubtless the day will come, when they will have to answer for this most dastardly murder, just the same as the tramp who assassinated for money.

The Legislature is moving right along in peace and harmony, doing the work that will meet the approbation of the people of this State. For many years past there have been discords, dissensions and strife between Democratic Legislatures, resulting disastrously to the Democracy and the State's best interest, but the present assembly seems to be made of wiser heads and we firmly believe will brush aside all differences of the past and move out on the lines of business. It has plenty of work to do and is able to do it. The redistricting the State will of course come up and we trust will be settled to the best interest of the State. This Legislature will probably provide a way to collect means for the building of a new Capital which is badly needed, although the small number of Republican members are threatening to defeat it, unless concessions are made to them in redistricting. The good politicians will of course understand their methods and steer the other way.

LIBERTY.
Mr. G. R. Wilkinson was forty years old on the 14th and gave a dinner to a few friends and relatives.

The first service in the new Baptist church will be held on the evening of the fourth Sunday in this month.

Misses Minnie Shannon and Mattie Eaton, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Taylor, have returned to their homes.

Messrs. John B. Coffey and Tono Hunn, Columbus, passed through town one day last week, en route home from Lincoln.

Miss Maggie M. G. Hardy, who formerly resided near Liberty, was married at McKinney to Mr. Walter Webb, of Jumbo, Lincoln county. F. J. Q. Montgomery performed the ceremony.

Eld. Lawrence Williams, of Morepeller, preached at the Christian church on Monday night. He went from here to Somerset.

Mr. William Morris, whose house was burned election night, is having considerable trouble getting his insurance. He was insured in the Farmer's Home Company. When the time came for settlement the company wanted Mr. Morris to knock off $50 which he has so far refused to do.

Judge W. O. Eavis purchased the property occupied by George Gillock and removed to it. Mr. Gillock bought a house from Mrs. Cochran, and Mr. John Helm sold to Mrs. Cochran.

Richard Wheeler, of Chelf's Ridge, was fined five dollars for trespassing upon the lands of Mrs. Elizabeth King.

Wm. Workman, of color, was fined $25 and five days in jail for beating his wife. The cases named were the first tried before the new officers.

The nomination and election of Hon. James B. McCreary as the next Democratic Senator from Kentucky was eminently satisfactory to the Democrats of Casey county. The graceful manner in which his opponents withdrew in the caucus cannot fail to meet the approval of the Democracy of the State. Long and faithful service in behalf of his party, together with a more extensive experience in the affairs of the State than any of his competitors, made the Madison county statesman the logical candidate. With Mr. McCreary and Mr. Blackburn the Commonwealth of Kentucky will be well represented in the Senate of the United States.

SPRING IS COMING.

In a very short time we will begin to receive our Spring Stock, (and we want to say right here that it will be the best you ever saw in Columbia.) At closing out sales of Manufacturers and Jobbers we bought largely of several lines of goods, and while in November and December we did a larger business than ever before yet a great many of these goods are unsold and must be sold within the next thirty days to make room for our Spring Stock. In order to clean out this stock, we have determined to sell them to Cash Buyers at Whole-Sale prices.

Mrs. Mary Triplett Dead.

Last Saturday afternoon about the hour of 1 o'clock Death visited the home of Dr. Jas. Triplett, Campbellville, and removed his beloved wife, who had been a constant sufferer for more than five years.

The deceased was born and reared in Central Kentucky, and was married to her husband about eighteen years ago, soon after leaving college at this place.

The first years of her married life were spent in Columbia, removing to Campbellville about fifteen years ago. She was a lady highly respected and had been a consistent member of the Christian Church since girlhood.

The funeral services were conducted at Campbellville Sunday forenoon in the presence of a large circle of friends, after which the remains were conveyed to Columbia and interred in the city cemetery.

The deceased leaves a husband and one daughter, the latter about eight years old, a father and several brothers and sisters, all of whom have the sympathy of this community.

A Good Citizen Dead.

Bro. Oger Creel Yates, of Gradyville, is no more. He was born Nov. 5, 1828; died at his late home in Gradyville Jan. 15, 1902. He was 75 years 2 months and 14 days old. He died as he lived, with clean hands and a pure heart, loved by every one who knew him.

He was a member of the Baptist Church for 50 years, firm in his religious faith, his life a faithful testimony to his Church and a true husband, a good brother, the best citizen of his community.

His lips never spoke an oath, no liquor ever went down his throat. His home was open to strangers as well as to friends, in all his trials he required the hand of his Maker for his aid.

The funeral was held at the Baptist Church by his pastor, assisted by Rev. J. H. Hughes, of T. L. Hicks, after which he was laid to rest in the old family burying ground to await the resurrection morn. To the bereaved family and numerous friends this community extends its profoundest sympathy.

Death of J. Pierce Doherty.

Last Wednesday evening the spirit of Mr. J. Pierce Doherty left this world and went to the God who gave it. For nearly a year Mr. Doherty had been in failing health, as he thought, from a bronchial trouble and for the last few months could only speak in a whisper, yet he was cheerful and believed that his trouble would pass off and that he would regain good health, but his hopes, for a longer lease of life, were not realized, for long trouble soon won his course. It was consumption that carried him to his grave.

Mr. Doherty had been a very active citizen, on the farm and in buying and selling stock. He was a man honest and upright in all his dealings and therefore had many warm personal friends who have been solicited of his condition since his death. We can truly say that he enjoyed a broad acquaintance and was indeed and in truth a high-hearted man. Had he lived until April 1901 we would have been 50 years old. He was a member of the Baptist Church though not an active one, yet on his death-bed he stated that he was ready to go. He leaves a wife and eight children who have the heart-felt sympathy of the people in this section in their grief and trying hours.

Only one brother, Mr. G. A. Doherty, of Washington county, and one sister, Mrs. Phelps of Harrodsburg, survive. His Friday funeral services were held at the home by Rev. Parks Vanhook and the body was interred in the cemetery in this town. Mrs. Doherty, the wife of the deceased, is in a feeble state of health and was not able to be at the burying. It is hoped that she will soon recover and that she may be spared many years to guard and direct her children.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Jeffries are now occupying their residence on College avenue.

For Rent.—Our store-house in Columbia, Ky., is for rent. Address, W. C. Blue, Cave City, Ky.

Corn has not advanced materially in this section since gathering time.

Mr. E. W. Hopewell has removed to the residence owned by Hon. George Nell.

Wheat has advanced, four is higher and the blight is about to rise, so do not so do.

The Deering Machine Company are out with some of the prettiest calendars we have seen for this year.

The Columbia College now has enrolled about ninety pupils, and every department is moving along nicely.

Mr. T. G. Dillon seems to be a perfect fit in the Livery business. A hand-shake and a smile for all comers.

Mr. Ed Butler, Jr. and A. W. Robinson, of Green county have rented the farm of Capt. Ed Butler Sr., in this county and have moved to the same.

The New England Mutual Life Insurance Company has several new calendars in this office to be given to parties hereafter notified. Please call.

There is a better demand and stronger prices prevailing for cattle than ever existed last year. The supply of feed in this county is greater than many contemplated.

W. H. Flowers and Robt. Mitchell, bought of W. H. Gill and Frank Wagner, twenty-five head of one and two year old steers at an average of $22.50 per head.

We understand that quite a number of tobacco plant beds were burned last week. It was an excellent time for the work and we trust that a large crop will be grown as it brings the cash.

Quite a number have tested their lungs on the tester at Hall's tin shop and Dr. C. M. Russell holds the record with Mr. Tim Bradshaw, Jas. Hughes and Robert Young, close second. It cost you nothing—only a blow.

Mr. John W. Flowers was in town Sunday and reported that all the students enrolled in his school. Mr. Flowers enjoys the confidence and esteem of the people interested in education and he deserves it. His school is increasing in numbers and quite a number of teachers are in attendance, taking the teachers course.

In this issue appears the advertisement of Mr. J. O. Strull who will open up a new stock of goods in the Tuttle block in the near future. Mr. Strull is now doing business in Greensburg and desiring to branch out has decided to put in a good stock in Columbia. He comes to us highly recommended as a true gentleman and a first-class merchant.

The attendance at the College has increased so greatly that an additional instructor has had to be employed and Miss Adelaide La Pierre, of Missouri, has been secured for the position. Miss La Pierre holds a diploma from the Carlisle Training School and is thoroughly equipped by training and experience to do the thorough work for which the College has become noted.

The Columbia Oil Company is forced to abandon its first and only well at a depth of 1800 feet. The drill is fast to the bottom of the hole and for more than a week the driller has worked in vain. The well from iron under orders to go deeper. It was the intention to go to a depth of 1800 feet unless oil should be secured sooner in paying quantity, but the driller cannot proceed without an extra cost of several hundred dollars to the company and likewise to himself. Work will begin at an early date, on well No. 2 about three miles down the stream on a spot of ground owned by a very desirable. In this well it is estimated every dollar it has in testing that locally unless a good strike should be made at a shallow depth. Many misfortunes, as it were, have delayed work with the company but we trust for speedier action and better results in the near future. The grade of oil in the well abandoned was all that could be desired but the quantity was not sufficient.

Circuit Court.

The crowd in town Monday was not as large as the January court usually brings, though a considerable amount of business was transacted. Trial cases were not very numerous, and but little stock changed hands. Our business houses were not particularly crowded, though the merchants saw other classes of trade did fairly well.

Judge W. W. Jones opened court promptly at 9 o'clock and in two hours concluded his instructions to the grand jury and they proceeded to business. The following gentlemen make up the grand jury:

J. W. Jackson, foreman; W. F. Neat, L. C. Cabell, W. E. Hancock, Julius Montgomery, Howard Murrell, John W. Blair, Jas. Sudarth, Harlow Jones, Jas. Frankum, R. F. Euse, Ed. Bennett.

The New Oil Company.

In a former issue we made mention of the formation of the Mutual Oil and Gas Company in this city with a capital stock of $25,000.00 divided into $10.00 shares, a part of which, will be placed on the market in a few days.

This company has leases on 623 acres in the oil bearing district of Wayne county—a section whose production is not only in the oil but in the gas. The oil from the entire country and beyond a doubt will prove one of the greatest producers of America in all this Southern country. This company, in the main, is made of conservative and aggressive business men who do not jump at conclusions of stock and land values in wild speculation, hence we expect to see every step taken lead in the direction of development of their valuable territory.

It is the intention of the Directors to put down the first well in the Paris district where producers are now known throughout the country.

The promoters are as follows: W. F. Jeffers, Merchants, J. N. Coffey and R. H. Hughes, Merchants, Jas. Garrett, Attorney-at-law, J. O. Russell, Merchant, M. Cravens, Druggist, J. R. Simpson, Lawyer, Middletown, Ky. Dr. A. B. Jones, Dentist, Stanford, Ky. G. B. Miller, Louisville, Traveling Salesman, E. W. Hopewell, Liveryman, Lexington, Ky. C. P. Freeling, Taylor Grove; W. B. Cave, Gradyville.

The above named gentlemen are well and favorably known in this section while several of them enjoy an acquaintance throughout the State. A description of the Company's property will appear in due time to advise those who are seeking a good time in oil speculation. Subscriptions are coming in as fast as the company is able to place a large per cent. of the stock, offered for sale, in a few weeks and every dollar thus obtained to be honestly applied to the development of the property.

A large number of the people, of this section are familiar with the sudden and tremendous advance in the value of stock in oil and gas companies that have secured producing wells. They understand that a good strike often brings a fortune and that a failure to drill in the proper place simply means a loss to the amount of the money used in drilling. They all know and realize that nothing but the drill will tell the correct tale or reveal the value of any territory. They understand that a move of this sort is purely speculative, as any oil company that is not in agreement is the most inviting, and we believe, the most likely to yield large returns, of any legitimate risk before the people. Of the many companies formed in Southern Kentucky, we feel safe in saying that the Mutual has as desirable undeveloped property as any of the companies to place a large per cent. of the stock, offered for sale, in a few weeks and every dollar thus obtained to be honestly applied to the development of the property.

If you want to invest a few dollars where the chances are favorable for a large return, where the risk is limited to the amount of your investment, only, then write N. M. Turri, Sec. Columbia, Ky.

The Mutual Oil and Gas Company has decided to issue the first certificate of stock to Miss Estelle Lippert, as she is the first lady to so invest in the company.

Mr. Eugene Bell, who has been the proprietor of the Grand Hotel, 11th and Broadway, Louisville, for the past several years, has leased the Phoenix building corner 7th and Market, and will open a first-class hotel the 12th of March. The building will be thoroughly overhauled and valuable improvements made. It will be known as "Bell's Hotel," and it is the most convenient stand in the city for country merchants. It is the intention of the proprietor to make this hotel headquarters for political convention and all other large gatherings. "Ad" in to-day's News.

We desire to thank many of our subscribers for giving The News credit in answering advertisements sent in its columns. We further ask that all who answer advertisements, by writing or in person, whether local or advertising out of our county, say "I saw it in The News." This will do no harm, will satisfy the advertiser that our paper is worth his patronage and will result in good to us. Don't forget this.

The News goes to quite a number who have left this part of the State and found more pleasant and profitable surroundings in other sections and other States, and while many have been sending the dollars there are a good number who have not dealt with us kindly. We trust that they will pay up and help us keep the wolf from our door. Send money, money or stamps.

Mr. Frank Bell has purchased the grocery store and restaurant of his brother, James, at Lebanon, and is now in possession. He has experience and will doubtless keep up the reputation of this splendid stand. Mr. Bell furnishes meals at all hours and invites the people of Adair county to stop with him when in the city. See advertisement.

There will be preaching at the following places next Sunday: T. F. Walton, Columbia; W. S. Dugden, Freedom; Z. T. Williams, Columbia; W. H. S. Sanger, Hopewell; G. W. Montgomery, Riley; W. P. Gordon, Milltown; T. L. Hulse, Pleasant Bluffs; F. P. Vanhook, Clark County; M. Deener, Liberty; C. P. Freeling, Taylor Grove; W. B. Cave, Gradyville.

The Mutual Oil and Gas Company will be ready to issue certificates in a few days. Applications for stock in this company are coming in. Remember, first come, first served.

GRADYVILLE.

Prof. Gus Handley visited at Brood-Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Clara Whitmore and brother, visited relatives at Bliss Saturday night. J. W. Walker and son, J. W. were at Gradyville one day last week.

C. H. Murrell, of Columbia, passed through our town one day last week enroute for Edmonston looking after the interest of The News.

Jo H. Smith one of our up-to-date stock men and farmers, was in Burksville last week looking after his interest in the livery business.

S. A. Harper informs us that his son Mont, who has been in the Philippines for some time would return home the first of February. We welcome him.

The school at this place under the management of Prof. Flowers is progressing nicely with a good attendance. The patrons and pupils are perfectly satisfied with the result of the school.

Mr. Jim Handley, one of Breeding's best farmers, was on our streets one day last week.

On last Saturday the death of Mr. C. O. Yates was heralded over this community. A good name, a man whose every body loved from the youngest to the oldest, one that did not have an enemy in the world, one that lived a consistent christian life to an advanced age. He was a member of the Day ist church for fifty years. Uncle Creel had been confined to his room for several weeks with pneumonia fever, but was thought to be improving until last Friday he was taken severely sick and suffered intensely until the end came. He was seventy-five years old. He leaves several children, several brothers and sisters with a host of relatives and friends to sympathize with them in this their sad bereavement. His funeral was conducted by Rev. Caves Sandridge and Hulse before a large audience and his remains interred in the old family burying ground.

Rev. Sholey preached an interesting sermon at the Methodist church last Sunday night.

Gowen & Corbett purchased of Dr. L. C. Nell a large number of staves which they will prepare for the market.

Mr. Thos. Garmon and family have rented a farm of E. H. Hughes, which is near Mill-ten and they have removed to it. We regret to give Mr. Garmon up on account of his proficiency in the telephone business.
